Guidance on list sections and subordinated bonds

Hold-to-maturity recommendations

In the hold-to-maturity recommendation list, we provide recommendations for investment grade and non-investment grade bonds. We believe that these bonds are currently the most attractive investments within their respective segment of our coverage universe. This list is tailored for the needs of private investors with an intention to hold bonds until maturity. We prefer bonds with low coupons and low accrued interest. Indicative instrument valuation based on the most recent closing prices.

Relative value recommendations

In the relative value recommendation list, we are providing our current 'attractive' and 'expensive' valuation views for investment grade and non-investment grade bonds. These are short-term trading oriented recommendations and may not be suitable for investors intending to hold bonds until maturity. We expect bonds with an 'attractive' valuation view to achieve a total return exceeding a broad benchmark of comparable instruments in the near-term. We expect the total return of bonds with an 'expensive' valuation view to lag a broad benchmark of comparable instruments in the near-term. The views on the specific bonds do not imply a generally positive or negative view on the issuers. Indicative instrument valuation based on the most recent closing prices.

Corporate hybrid bonds

Corporate hybrid bonds are deeply subordinated debt instruments, which usually only rank senior to equity. The structural features of these instruments differ materially from senior bonds and investors should always familiarize themselves with the prospectus of each instrument before committing to an investment. As a result of the subordination as well as the fact that coupons on hybrid bonds can be deferred or even cancelled, investors are exposed to potentially material subordination and deferral risks. Also, these instruments may not be called on their first call dates and investors should therefore mind the corresponding extension risks. Other important aspects to consider include the materially higher volatility of these bonds (compared to senior bonds) as well as potential liquidity and par call risks. Although we see corporate hybrids as a more defensive alternative to stocks or high yield bonds, we highlight that the instruments listed in this publication should only be held by trading oriented investors with well-diversified portfolios.

Financial subordinated bonds

Tier 2 bank bonds are subordinated instruments, junior in ranking versus non preferred senior bonds and senior versus AT1 bonds. Tier 2 coupon payments can't be skipped or postponed. And Tier 2 instruments can be written down only if the issuer is no longer viable and the debt needs to be restructured, which we currently think is a remote possibility with major institutions due to their solid capital levels. Callable Tier 2 bonds are generally redeemed on the first call date as amortization takes place in the last five years of the bond's life.

In the insurance space, Tier 2 coupon payments can be skipped, though they cumulate until the issuer has the financial ability to pay them. Most bonds have a fixed maturity but are callable before then. The step-up (the spread on the first call date is higher than the one paid when the bond was issued) is an incentive for the issuer to redeem the bonds on the first call date, which has been largely the case so far. Solvency 2 insurance hybrids are referred as unrestricted and restricted Tier 1 (RT1). They are perpetual with no incentive to be redeemed on the first call date and are structured to absorb losses if need be.

Appendix

Abbreviations	Explanations
Acc. int.	Interest accrued since the last coupon date in %. The sum of Ind. Off. Price and Accrued Interest is the dirty price, i.e. the total payout when buying a bond.
bail-in	Senior (bail-in) bond: the bond ranks below senior (preferred) unsecured bonds, but above subordinated bonds. They may be subject to loss-absorption in the event a bank fails, as determined by resolution authorities. Senior (bail-in) bonds can be issued from a holding company (structural subordination) or from an operating company level with the subordination defined in the prospectus (contractual subordination) or by law. Senior (bail-in) bonds are sometimes issued with a call option allowing the issuer to redeem it before its final maturity.
Bond ratings (MDY / SP)	Moody's / S&P ratings. The bond rating terminology is explained on the rating table shown in this publication. Bonds may achieve a lower credit rating than the issuer, if they are subordinated. Higher credit ratings result from additional guarantees or contractual credit enhancements for a bond. The rating outlook is displayed with the rating and indicates a potential change within the next 12 months.
'e'	E.g. Aa2e: The letter 'e' after the rating means, that the Moody's rating is expected to be Aa2, but the rating agency has not yet confirmed it for this bond. The 'e' can be used for both agency's ratings.
'u'	E.g. Aa2u: The letter 'u' after the rating means, that the Moody's rating is unsolicited. Unsolicited credit ratings are not initiated or not maintained at the request of the rated entity and/or its agents and apply at the rated entity level and/or the security level. The 'u' can be used for both agency's ratings.
CCY	Currency
Coupon	Coupon rate in %. FRN: Floating rate note. For corporate hybrid bonds and financial subordinated bonds, only the current coupon is displayed.
Coupon after next call	5yS = 5 year swap rate ('S' stands for Swap rate), 3mE = 3 month Euribor ('E' stands for Euribor), 3mL = 3 month Libor ('L' stands for Libor), 5ySFS = 5 year Swiss Swap Rate ('SFS' stands for Swiss Swap Rate)
Cpn. freq.	Coupon frequency. E.g. 'semi' means that half of the coupon is paid on a semiannual basis.
Duration	Duration is the weighted average term-to-maturity of a bond's cash flows, where the weights are the present value of each cash flow as a percentage of the present value of all the bond's cash flows. It should be interpreted as a risk measure. Except for zero coupon bonds, where maturity equals duration, the duration of bonds is always less than their time to maturity. The longer the time to maturity the greater the duration of a bond and the greater the price volatility of the bond.
EEA info	Restriction information for EEA domiciled retail clients: 1) Complex bond under MiFID; 2) PRIIPS relevant bond, KID missing; n.a.: restriction information not available
Ind. price	Indicative offer price. This may not be the price at which the security may be purchased or sold, but the best offer price available at the time indicated for valuation data on the front page.
Market of issuance	CHF Domestic bonds are bonds issued by a swiss entity in Swiss Francs and are subject to 35% Swiss withholding tax. CHF Foreign bonds are bonds issued by a non-swiss entity in Swiss Francs. International bonds are debt obligations that are traded in the Euro market (i.e. the international bond market). Eurozone bonds are bonds issued by one of the EU member countries which have adopted the Euro currency. Global bonds may be issued by any issuer in any currency. These bonds are trading simultaneously in the international and a local bond market. Global bonds of US issuers fall under QI regulations.
Maturity	Some financial senior bonds might be called up to 12 months prior to final maturity due to regulatory reasons. Respective coupons could switch to a variable rate if the bond is not called.
Min. piece	Minimum face value that may be purchased of a bond plus the increment. E.g. '50+1' refers to a minimum face value of 50'000, but means that e.g. 51'000 may be bought.
n.a.	Not available
Note	Green: Green bond, Social: Social bond, Sustainable: Sustainability bond, SLB: Sustainability-linked bond, T2: Tier 2 bond, RT1: Restricted Tier 1 bond
YTM	Yield to maturity. It indicates the annual yield that would be earned on this investment if the bond would be held to maturity. It assumes that the coupon payments are reinvested at the yield to maturity.
YTC	Yield to call. It indicates the annual yield that would be earned on this investment if the bond was called on its next call date. It assumes that the coupon payments are reinvested at the yield to call.

UBS CIO risk views

Credit risk flags

CIO attaches a credit risk flag to the instruments under its coverage. Credit risk is assessed based on the remaining tenor and / or instrument type. The flag indicates the likelihood that a holder of the instrument will not receive a coupon or principal payment when it comes due. For subordinated and hybrid instruments, which are usually callable and have a remote or no fixed maturity date, we apply one uniform credit risk flag per issuer and instrument type. The idea is to reflect the possibility of contractual trigger events or regulatory intervention occurring. Either can impose losses on bondholders regardless of the remaining term of the instrument or a specific issuer default event. Credit risk flags only indicate our view of the riskiness of a particular instrument. Credit risk flags should not be seen as recommendations to buy, hold or sell. In fact, any combination of risk flags and relative value recommendations is possible.

Very low credit risk

We believe that the probability of debt payments not being made when they come due is very low (cumulative probability of less than 2%).

Medium credit risk

We believe that the probability of debt payments not being made when they come due is low to medium (cumulative probability of non-payment between 2% and less than 20%).

High credit risk

We believe that the probability of debt payments not being made when they come due is at least one in five cumulatively.

UBS credit rating

The UBS credit rating reflects our view of the creditworthiness of a company (consistent with our risk flags) and represents a long-term (senior) debt rating. The symbols are similar to those of rating agencies but UBS credit ratings solely reflect UBS's opinion, and are distinct from evaluations assigned by rating agencies. The UBS credit rating is not a recommendation to buy, hold or sell a particular bond, nor is it reflective of market pricing and/or market sentiment. All combinations of a credit rating and relative valuation recommendations are possible.

Issuer credit outlook

We complement the instrument-specific risk information of the credit risk flags by indicating our outlook for the credit quality of an issuer over the next 12 months. Depending on instrument pricing, all combinations of an issuer credit outlook and relative valuation recommendations are possible.

Improving: We expect the credit profile of the issuer to improve, to an extent that may result in upgrades by rating agencies.

Stable: We do not expect the credit profile of the issuer to change meaningfully.

Deteriorating: We expect the credit profile of the issuer to deteriorate, to an extent that may result in downgrades by rating agencies.

Note that the credit views in this report are those of UBS Financial Services and may differ from those of other parts of UBS regarding the same issuer.

UBS CIO valuation views

Relative value bond recommendations

Our relative value bond recommendations are based on an average investment horizon of six to 12 months. They reflect our assessment of a bond's attractiveness relative to comparable instruments under CIO coverage. Comparable instruments typically exhibit similar credit quality, are denominated in the same currency, and belong to the same segment of the bond market.

Views on a particular instrument can change within the six- to 12-month time frame, and those that apply to one instrument do not necessarily apply to others of the same issuer. Views on a particular instrument may be withdrawn if it does not have a sizeable basket of comparable instruments under CIO coverage.

Attractive Bonds seen as "attractive" are expected to generate a total return exceeding the average return of comparable instruments. Our recommendation can stem from a positive view on the issuer's credit profile not fully reflected in the price, unduly high risk premiums, our take on an instrument's call probability, the risk of coupon deferrals, and external factors including regulatory intervention.

Fair Bonds seen as "fair" are expected to produce a total return broadly in line with the average return of comparable instruments.

Expensive Bonds seen as "expensive" are expected to earn a total return that is less than the average return of comparable instruments. Our recommendation can stem from a negative view on the issuer's credit profile not fully reflected in the price, unduly tight risk premiums, our take on an instrument's call probability, the risk of coupon deferrals, and external factors including regulatory intervention.

Sell recommendations

Sell A Sell recommendation is assigned when the risk of an adverse outcome for an instrument exceeds what is reflected in its current valuation. Such situations can include those in which the instrument appears likely to post negative total returns until redemption, either due to a highly negative yield to maturity or an imminent call at a price below market valuations.

For Credit Suisse clients

Please note that Credit Suisse channels might temporarily display a different rating terminology when referencing UBS CIO bond recommendations.

While terminology might differ due to technical limitations, the definitions of the UBS valuation methodology apply.

UBS bond recommendation	Credit Suisse channels
Attractive	Buy
Fair	Neutral
Expensive	no equivalent in CS channels
Sell	Sell

Issuer valuation views

In addition to the relative value bond recommendations, CIO provides issuer valuation views for selected issuers from developed countries. Large, frequent issuers often provide a relatively consistent bond curve in their main issuing currencies. A general valuation view on them provides useful guidance when constructing a bond portfolio or assessing new issues. Issuer valuation views cannot simply be broken down to the instrument level. Any combination of our credit risk flags and issuer valuation views is generally possible. Issuer views do not restrict CIO from having different valuation views on individual bonds.

Preferred list: Bonds of issuers on our Preferred list are generally expected to offer a more attractive relative valuation than those of similarly rated peers.

Core list: Bonds of issuers on our Core list are generally expected to generate total returns in line with those of similarly rated peers. Core issuers offer relatively liquid bond curves and comparatively stable credit profiles.

Avoid list: Bonds of issuers on our Avoid list are generally expected to offer a less attractive relative valuation than those of similarly rated peers. The decision to include an issuer on the Avoid list reflects, in most cases, relative value considerations, which can but do not have to be based on an expected deterioration in credit quality. As long as we have not issued a Sell recommendation existing positions may be held.

For details please see "Understanding bonds: A guide to CIO's credit offering", published 16 April 2021.

Statement of Risk

Fixed income - Bond market returns are difficult to forecast because of fluctuations in the economy, investor psychology, geopolitical conditions and other important variables. Corporate bonds are subject to a number of risks, including credit risk, interest rate risk, liquidity risk, and event risk. Though historical default rates are low on investment-grade corporate bonds, perceived adverse changes in the credit quality of an issuer may negatively affect the market value of securities. As interest rates rise, the value of a fixed-coupon security will likely decline. Bonds are subject to market value fluctuations, given changes in the level of risk-free interest rates. Not all bonds can be sold quickly or easily on the open market. Prospective investors should consult their tax advisors concerning the federal, state, local, and non-US tax consequences of owning any securities referenced in this report.

Preferred securities - Prospective investors should consult their tax advisors concerning the federal, state, local, and non-US tax consequences of owning preferred stocks. Preferred stocks are subject to market value fluctuations, given changes in the level of interest rates. For example, if interest rates rise, the value of these securities could decline. If preferred stocks are sold prior to maturity, price and yield may vary. Adverse changes in the credit quality of the issuer may negatively affect the market value of the securities. Most preferred securities may be redeemed at par after five years. If this occurs, holders of the securities may be faced with a reinvestment decision at lower future rates. Preferred stocks are also subject to other risks, including illiquidity and certain special redemption provisions.

This publication is for your information only and is not intended as an offer, or a solicitation of an offer, to buy or sell any investment or other specific product. The analysis contained herein does not constitute a personal recommendation or take into account the particular investment objectives, investment strategies, financial situation and needs of any specific recipient. This publication is not intended to be a complete statement or summary of the securities, markets or developments referred to in the report. Opinions expressed herein may differ or be contrary to those expressed by other business areas or divisions of UBS as a result of using different assumptions and/or criteria. UBS may utilise artificial intelligence tools ("AI Tools") in the preparation of this document. Notwithstanding any such use of AI Tools, this document has undergone human review.

In no circumstances may this document or any of the information (including any forecast, value, index or other calculated amount ("Values")) be used for any of the following purposes (i) valuation or accounting purposes; (ii) to determine the amounts due or payable, the price or the value of any financial instrument or financial contract; or (iii) to measure the performance of any financial instrument including, without limitation, for the purpose of tracking the return or performance of any Value or of defining the asset allocation of portfolio or of computing performance fees. Risk information rely on any of the information for any of the above purposes. UBS and any of its directors or employees may be entitled at any time to hold long or short positions in investment instruments referred to herein, carry out transactions involving relevant investment instruments in the capacity of principal or agent, or provide any other services or have officers, who serve as directors, either to/for the issuer, the investment instrument itself or to/for any company commercially or financially affiliated to such issuers. At any time, investment decisions (including whether to buy, sell or hold securities) made by UBS and its employees may differ from or be contrary to the opinions expressed in UBS research publications. Some investments may not be readily realizable since the market in the securities is illiquid and therefore valuing the investment and identifying the risk to which you are exposed may be difficult to quantify. UBS relies on information barriers to control the flow of information contained in one or more areas within UBS, into other areas, units, divisions or affiliates of UBS. Futures and options trading is not suitable for every investor as there is a substantial risk of loss, and losses in excess of an initial investment may occur. Past performance of an investment is no guarantee for its future performance. Additional information will be made available upon request. Some investments may be subject to sudden and large falls in value and on realization you may receive back less than you invested or may be required to pay more. Changes in foreign exchange rates may have an adverse effect on the price, value or income of an investment. The analyst(s) responsible for the preparation of this report may interact with trading desk personnel, sales personnel and other constituencies for the purpose of gathering, synthesizing and interpreting market information.

Different areas, groups, and personnel within UBS Group may produce and distribute separate research products independently of each other. For example, research publications from CIO are produced by UBS Global Wealth Management. UBS Global Research is produced by UBS Investment Bank. Research methodologies and rating systems of each separate research organization may differ, for example, in terms of investment recommendations, investment horizon, model assumptions, and valuation methods. As a consequence, except for certain economic forecasts (for which UBS CIO and UBS Global Research may collaborate), investment recommendations, ratings, price targets, and valuations provided by each of the separate research organizations may be different, or inconsistent. You should refer to each relevant research product for the details as to their methodologies and rating system. Not all clients may have access to all products from every organization. Each research product is subject to the policies and procedures of the organization that produces it.

The compensation of the analyst(s) who prepared this report is determined exclusively by research management and senior management (not including investment banking). Analyst compensation is not based on investment banking, sales and trading or principal trading revenues, however, compensation may relate to the revenues of UBS Group as a whole, of which investment banking, sales and trading and principal trading are a part.

Options and futures are not suitable for all investors, and trading in these instruments is considered risky and may be appropriate only for sophisticated investors. Prior to buying or selling an option, and for the complete risks relating to options, you must receive a copy of "Characteristics and Risks of Standardized Options". You may read the document at <https://www.theocc.com/about/publications/character-risks.jsp> or ask your financial advisor for a copy.

Investing in structured investments involves significant risks. For a detailed discussion of the risks involved in investing in any particular structured investment, you must read the relevant offering materials for that investment. Structured investments are unsecured obligations of a particular issuer with returns linked to the performance of an underlying asset. Depending on the terms of the investment, investors could lose all or a substantial portion of their investment based on the performance of the underlying asset. Investors could also lose their entire investment if the issuer becomes insolvent. UBS does not guarantee in any way the obligations or the financial condition of any issuer or the accuracy of any financial information provided by any issuer. Structured investments are not traditional investments and investing in a structured investment is not equivalent to investing directly in the underlying asset. Structured investments may have limited or no liquidity, and investors should be prepared to hold their investment to maturity. The return of structured investments may be limited by a maximum gain, participation rate or other feature. Structured investments may include call features and, if a structured investment is called early, investors would not earn any further return and may not be able to reinvest in similar investments with similar terms. Structured investments include costs and fees which are generally embedded in the price of the investment. The tax treatment of a structured investment may be complex and may differ from a direct investment in the underlying asset. UBS and its employees do not provide tax advice. Investors should consult their own tax advisor about their own tax situation before investing in any securities.

Important Information About Sustainable Investing Strategies: Sustainable investing strategies aim to consider and incorporate environmental, social and governance (ESG) factors into investment process and portfolio construction. Strategies across geographies approach ESG analysis and incorporate the findings in a variety of ways. Incorporating ESG factors or Sustainable Investing considerations may inhibit UBS's ability to participate in or to advise on certain investment opportunities that otherwise would be consistent with the Client's investment objectives. The returns on a portfolio incorporating ESG factors or Sustainable Investing considerations may be lower or higher than portfolios where ESG factors, exclusions, or other sustainability issues are not considered by UBS, and the investment opportunities available to such portfolios may differ.

External Asset Managers / External Financial Consultants: In case this research or publication is provided to an External Asset Manager or an External Financial Consultant, UBS expressly prohibits that it is redistributed by the External Asset Manager or the External Financial Consultant and is made available to their clients and/or third parties.

USA: This document is not intended for distribution into the US and / or to US persons.
